Student Email

<http://mailccc.net>

Carteret Community College will partner with Google to provide email to students starting the summer semester of 2008. We are also changing the domain name, the format of user names, and the format of passwords. To access the college's email go to <http://mailccc.net>. This will take you to a web page that looks like the graphic below.

Sticky Note

Login names and passwords will be in the following format: first initial + middle initial + last name. So if my name was John Frank Doe my login name would be jfdoe. Google requires six characters for passwords so for user names five characters or less we add 111 (three ones) to the end. My email address would be jfdoe@mailccc.net. Our ability to create login names is only as good as the information in our system. If you have a middle name and did not enter it in your college application then your email login for the example above would be jdoe, the password would be jdoe111 and your email address would be jdoe@mailccc.net. If there are duplicate user names we will append a "1" and then increment them accordingly.

How to login:

I will login using my first initial, middle initial and last name. In this case I will use jfdoe for my login and jfdoe111 for the password.(five or less characters will require adding 111 for the initial password). When logging in make sure the "Remember me on this computer" radio button is unchecked. After successfully logging in you will be brought to a change password screen which will look like the graphic below. You are required to change your password at this point. Type the new password in the two fields and then type the security letters. In this example it is "fleger".
